Tests ..... sets of 10 tests in 3 different sections. Each test contains questions over all areas of usage as listed above. The format is the same as that used on PSAT and SAT tests. One test from each of the three types should be used after instruction of any of the above areas. Discuss each question, even though formalized instruction for that particular problem area may not have been presented at that time. The students profit from exposure to and explanations of the kinds of questions they will encounter on the SAT.
